

Daily Reading Schedule

Five weeks to the new Daf Yomi cycle: Tuesday, June 8, 2027

This calendar breaks the book into a short daily reading, timed so a beginner who starts the Sunday after Pesach finishes the entire book (guided learning, appendices, and all five practice exercises) with a few days to spare before the next Daf Yomi cycle opens with Berachos 2a on Tuesday, June 8. The Siyum HaShas is celebrated on Sunday, June 6, and the current cycle's last daf is learned on Monday, June 7. Each Shabbos is left for review rather than new material, and buffer days near the end absorb any day you fall behind.

Pesach 5787 (2027) ends Thursday, April 29. This schedule begins the following Sunday, May 2, so as not to compete with the last days of Yom Tov.
